Issue 30 12.05.23

Dear Families,

The weather may have been a bit hit and miss last week but it didn't stop us enjoying a special Coronation Day!

Mr Long came in to lead a special worship about King Charles this morning, the children enjoyed finding out about King Charles' life and his role as the Prince of Wales and now the King.

All the children designed a stamp to form part of a whole school display which is now in the hall.

A huge congratulations to our Year 6 pupils who demonstrated all of our school values in abundance this week when trying new things, meeting new people, setting up new enterprises and sitting the SATs papers. You are all wonderful and I am proud of every single one of you!

Thank you to those who popped along to Ibstone's own version of the Entertainer after school, the Bring and Buy sale made £202.31 and hopefully a little more once some items left over are sold on Facebook Marketplace.

In other news:

Year 5 Adventure Week

Next week is Year 5 Adventure week, I will be off site from Tuesday, in my absence, Mrs Statham will be the teacher in charge and the designated safeguarding lead. I will check in with the school regularly. Let's hope the weather brightens for our camping!

Community Book Shed

King Charles took time out of his busy schedule to pop in to open the Community Book Shed (if anyone can think of a better name please let me know). This is open to the wider community and so will be used by villagers and parents alike. The way it works...you can borrow a book and return it, or you can take a book to keep and give another in its place. There are a selection of fiction and non fiction for both adults, teens and children alike. Books will be refreshed monthly so feel free to browse!
